BARREL CASE. - Mike Loupheimer and Lipman Gentzberger, both of the junk dealing frateraity, yesterday morning bought a coal oil barrel. Gentzberger purchased it first from a colored man named Coates, well known to the police to be a sneak thief, and gave him fifty cents for it. Gentzberger absented himself for a few minutes to obtain a cart to convey the barrel to his general repository for all the scientific and mechanical productions of the worldhis junk shop-and while being thus away the vender, who had already been paid the purchase money, conceived the idea of another speculation in the oil barrel business. So he leftly rolled the barrel to the shop of Lounheimer, a similar one to that of Gentzberger, where he again sold it, receiving in payment sixty cents, and then skipped for pastures new. When junk dealer No. 1 returned with his cart and found No. 2 in possession of the property a war of words ensued compared to which the confusion in the tower of Bable was as the quietness of an asylum for mutes. The police got win i of the contest, and believing the subject of it to be stolen property, traced the ownership to Mr. Spiaks, corner of Columbus and Princess streets, to whom it was restored last night. Coates was arrested and brought before Mayor Johnson last night, who sentenced him to receive thirty stripes, twenty of which to be administered at once, and the remainder in

INCORRECT .- I've Washington correspon dent of the Baltimore Gazette says :-

"This morning in the Police Court, Judge Snell held John Bird for the grand jury, on the charge of stealing a horse and wagon. Bird is about fourteen years of age, and after stealing the team, flid to Alexandria, Va., where he was arrested by Detective McDevitt.

This is correct, except in one particular. Bird was not "arrested by Detective McDevitt," but by Officers Bettis and Arnold, of this city. The pelice force here is composed of astute and attentive officers, who don't need the assistance of Washington detectives to eatch thieves.

POLICE REPORT.—George Coates, colored, for stealing a coal oil barrel from Mr. Spinks, pear the old court house, was sentenced to receive thirty lashes. Mr. Dillon, late overseer of the chain gaug, arrested this morning a negro man who gave his name as Albert Day, and who is believed to be a man who escaped from the chain gang while piling wood in the gas house yard last fall. Day denies being the man, but the offi cers are confident of his identity. He was originally sent in by Justice Franklin of the county for chicken stealing.
